The Story behind Cenote Maravilla

When Sr. José bought the land, he never thought that he would find these many treasures.

First, he found a cenote, which means fresh water that Mayans used to drink and for agriculture. They are considered sacred as they are connected to the largest underground river system in the world.

He called the divers to measure it and to see if it was a safe cenote to swim (as there are some that can suck you away). Well, it is safe, but they also found a Megalodon tooth!

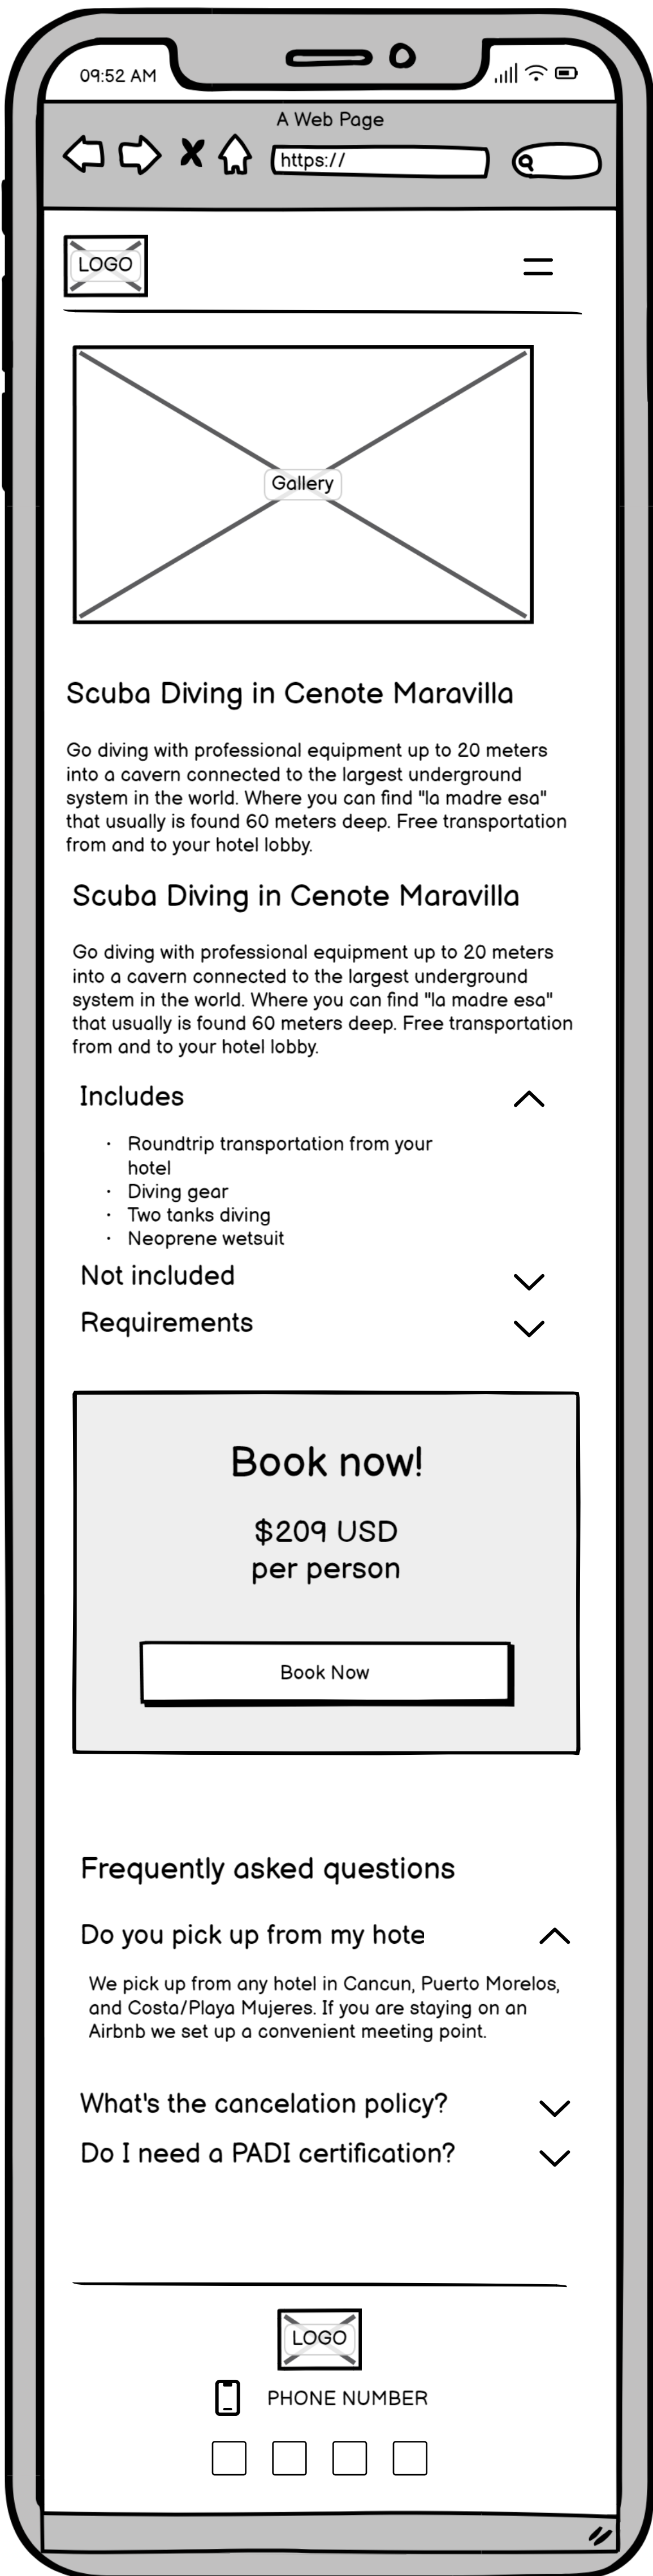

Paleontologists were called to be sure it had a proper treatment and study. So finally, after three years, it was confirmed it was a Megalodon tooth.
